89 378 00	Craft scissors

Needle & sewing thread, possibly toothpick

Instructions:

- 1 Insert the raw-wood ball onto a paintbrush tip or a suitable wooden stick.
- 2 Paint the raw-wood ball, to serve as a head, by means of the paintbrush from the set. You can sketch out the face as an aid with a pencil (example template enclosed). For the face, start with the All Purpose paint, colour nude, which you lighten a bit with the All Purpose paint, colour snow-white. Paint the hair and the rest of the face afterwards. Paint the hair clip with the gold acrylic marker. Allow to dry well out.
- 3 Thread 20 cm of the black jewellery cord through the eyelet of the lobster clasp. Lay both ends of the decorative cord on top of each other and thread both ends through the small head. As a spacing element between the head (raw-wood ball) and the body (soft tulle pompon), thread through a gray bead from the wooden bead mix.

TIP: A toothpick makes it easier to push the decorative cord through the raw-wood ball hole.

- 4 After that, tie a knot so that the lobster clasp gets more space to move. Tie a simple knot in the middle with the remaining decorative cord. Now, sew firmly the head and the legs separately to the inside of the pompon with a matching sewing thread. Always sew the ends of the thread.

- 5 Then, thread the gray wooden beads from the mix as shoes and tie a knot at the desired leg length. Cut off the cord ends.

TIP: The Pomponellas can be worn on a necklace, used as a bag charm, for a baby mobile or on a gift wrapping.
